cowart presents a study of international historical fiction since world war ii with reflections on the affinities between historical and fictional narrative analysis of the basic modes of historical fiction and readings of a number of historical novels including john barth s the sot weed factor marguerite yourcenar s memoirs of hadrian russell hoban s riddley walker margaret atwood s the handmaid s tale giuseppe tomasi di lampedusa s the leopard d m thomas s the white hotel william faulkner s go down moose and umberto eco s the name of the rose he proposes recognizing four modes of the historical novel the past as a distant mirror of the present fictions whose authors seek to pinpoint the precise historical moment when the modern age or some prominent feature of it came into existence fictions whose authors aspire purely or largely to historical verisimilitude and fictions whose authors reverse history to contemplate utopia and dystopia in the future thus historical fiction can be organized under the rubrics the distant mirror the turning point the way it was and the way it will be

this fourfold schema and his focus on postwar novels set Cowart's work apart from previous studies which have not devoted adequate space to the contemporary historical novel. Cowart argues that postwar historical fiction merits more extensive treatment because it is the product of an age unique in the annals of history: an age in which history itself may end.

This is the first of a series of monograph supplements to the journal New Testament Studies. The main purpose of the series is to make possible publication of work which is too long for inclusion in the journal. The monographs will be published in either English, French, or German. The present one is in English. Dr. Gärtner's purpose is to follow in detail the parallels between the New Testament and Qumran writings in their concept of the community: Christian or Essene as a spiritual temple. The whole complex of relationships between Qumran and the early church is studied with the purpose of extending our knowledge of the Jewish background of the New Testament. Dr. Gärtner's conclusions lend strong support to the view that it is from this Qumran type of Judaism that the Christian church arose.
